About Massai Mara

Maasai Mara National Reserve is an area of preserved savannah wilderness in southwestern Kenya, along the Tanzanian border. Its animals include lions, cheetahs, elephants, zebras and hippos. Wildebeest traverse its plains during their annual migration. The landscape has grassy plains and rolling hills, and is crossed by the Mara and Talek rivers. The area nearby is dotted with villages (enkangs) of Maasai people.

About Our Service Partner:

Ubuntu is a Community Based Organization based in the informal settlement of Giturai, outside of Nairobi. It was founded by Lillian Nayakio, with the mission of empowering the youth and women in her community through education and enterprise.

With various programs, like a digital skills and training, reproductive health mentorship, and a micro-finance program to help small business owners Ubuntu is making an undeniable impact in their community and invites you to do the same.
